Maule's Seeds

"Once Grown, Always Grown"

Grow More Vegetables This Year

At the time this book is being printed, a large part of the world is at war. Many of us remember the last war and the great food shortages. Now, with more countries at war or taken over by another, there is more reason to realize that there may be a great food shortage this year.

Canada, South America, and other countries are buying big quantities of seed from us as they cannot get any seed from Europe. We must help them but we must also take care of our good friends in this country.

We want to tell all our customers frankly that there may be a very severe shortage of some kinds of vegetable seeds. You should order your seeds early this year. If you are not using all your ground, plan on having a bigger garden than you have ever had before. Make your garden produce more. A few dollars expended for seeds and an hour or two of work each day will give surprising results. Even a back-yard garden can furnish a good supply of vegetables for the family.

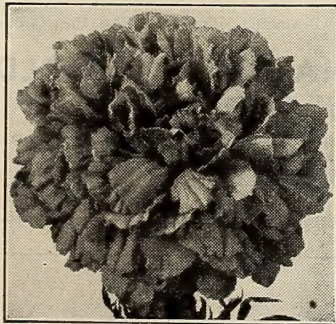

We urge you to send in your order as soon as possible. And don't forget to include flower seeds—they add so much to your garden and to home decoration and family enjoyment.

This is not a "sales" message, but sound advice to our friends. We hope you will favor us with your order; but in any case, plant a garden and add to this country's food supply.

Yours for a Successful Garden in 1941,

Wm Henry Maule

CALENDULA

1142 Yellow Shaggy

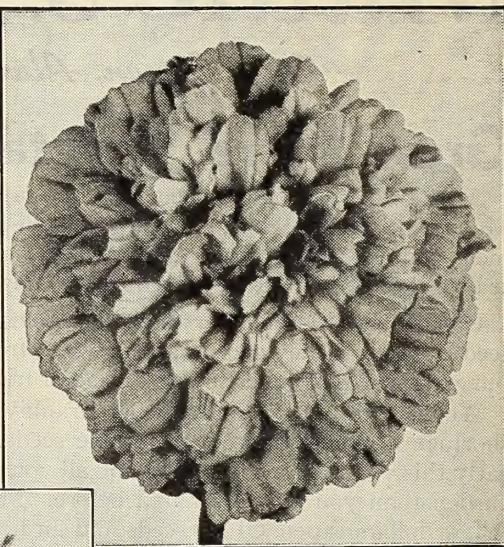

Flowers grow 3 in. across, and almost as thick, so that they are globular or ball-shaped. Yellow Shaggy has the deepest flower heads of all Calendulas. The petals are quilled and deeply cut on the ends, thereby giving the flowers a very shaggy and artistic appearance. It is this unique formation that gives this Calendula its name.

The color of the flowers is a bright clear yellow with a lighter yellow center, which is nearly covered by the mass of petals. Flowers are borne on very long stems; this, and the fact that flowers are excellent keepers, make them especially valuable for cutting. Plants grow 1½ ft. tall; showy in beds and borders.

Mary Washington has replaced all other varieties of Asparagus because the shoots are larger, thicker, more uniform, and practically immune to "rust" and other diseases. Of a delicious flavor, tender, and an attractive dark green color.

The tips or buds grow straight, are tightly folded, and get quite tall without branching. Makes a quick growth.

Brussels Sprouts

108 Danish Prize (125 days)

The most delicately flavored vegetable of the entire cabbage family. Plants grow medium tall and produce an abundance of large, solid, dark green, tightly folded "sprouts" or little cabbage-like heads along the stem.

Grow in moderately rich soil to avoid an excess of leaves. Sow seed in April or May in the open ground. Transplant in rows 3 ft. apart and 18 in. apart in the row. When the "sprouts" begin to form at the base of the stalk, break off the lower leaves to give them more room for growth. A packet of seed produces about 300 plants; one ounce, 3,000 plants; 4 to 6 ounces to plant an acre.

Pkt. 10¢; oz. 25¢;
 $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. 75¢; $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. \$1.15; lb. \$2.00.

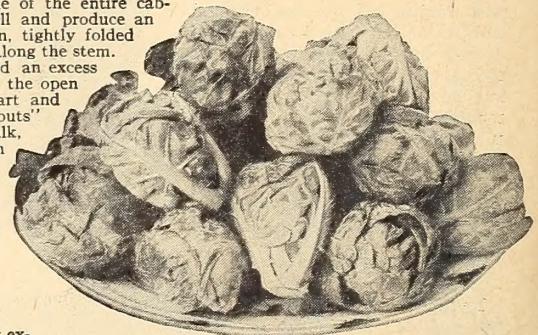

Artichoke

2 Green Globe

Grown extensively for its edible, deep green, globe-shaped buds or flower heads whose fleshy bud scales, when cooked, are regarded as a choice delicacy. Sow seed early indoors, setting the plants outdoors after danger of frost is past, 2 ft. apart, in rows 4 ft. apart. Plants are hardy, but where winters are severe, protect with a heavy mulch to keep crowns from freezing. Will produce a crop of buds the second season and yield heaviest during the first two or three years. A packet will produce 25 plants; an ounce about 500.

Pkt. 10¢; $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. 25¢; oz. 45¢;
 $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. \$1.30; $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. \$2.40; lb. \$4.35.

Danish Prize Brussels Sprouts

Broccoli

Culture: Same as for cabbage. Italian or Sprouting Broccoli very much resembles cauliflower except in color. One large head is borne on the main stalk and, when cut, a succession of smaller heads appear, which if kept cut will be replaced by others for 2 months or more. St. Valentine is a white-headed variety, similar to cauliflower and entirely different from the green Italian or Sprouting varieties. A packet will produce about 250 plants; an ounce, 3,000 plants; use $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. for an acre.

105 Calabrese (90 days) ✱

Large green heads; Italian Sprouting

Most delicious "green" vegetable which has become extremely popular because of its delicate flavor. Forms large, rich green sprouting heads, which, if kept cut, will continue to develop smaller heads for 8 or 10 weeks, thereby providing a continuous supply of "greens" for a long time.

Pkt. 10¢; $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. 25¢; oz. 40¢; $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. \$1.15;
 $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. \$2.05; lb. \$3.75.

103 St. Valentine (150 days)

Also known as Winter Cauliflower

White-heading type of broccoli grown in the northwest for shipment to the eastern markets. It looks somewhat like cauliflower, but is more hardy and requires much more time to mature. Very productive; the large, solid white heads are of the choicest quality. Needs a warm climate and long growing season.

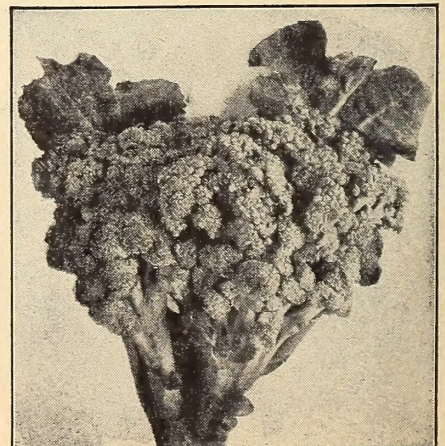

Pkt. 10¢; $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. 25¢;
oz. 45¢; $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. \$1.30; $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. \$2.40; lb. \$4.35.

106 Propageno (80 days) ✱

Earliest and largest; Italian Sprouting

An improved early strain of green sprouting broccoli having a large main head made up of an abundance of tender sprouts, and which, after being cut, will produce for a long time many smaller heads. Flavor is delicate and delicious. Make a generous planting so as to have a good supply of this wonderful vegetable all summer and fall. Propageno is earlier than Calabrese, produces larger heads, and is more productive. Vigorous, stocky plants, tall and erect. Thrives in sections where cauliflower does not.

Pkt. 10¢; $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. 25¢; oz. 40¢;
 $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. \$1.15; $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. \$2.00; lb. \$3.60.

Propageno, Italian or Sprouting Broccoli

Maule's Bush Lima Beans

Culture: Lima Beans grow best on rich, well-drained, porous soil. As seed is sensitive to cold and wet, do not plant until all danger of frost is over; wait until the soil is warm and moderately dry, which is usually about the middle of May in the vicinity of Philadelphia. In most sections limas are planted about 2 weeks after the first planting of bush or snap beans. Plant in drills 2 to 3 ft. apart, spacing the seed 6 in. apart, and set them edgewise with the eye downward and cover with 2 in. of soil. Later thin to stand 18 to 24 in. apart in the rows. Cultivate shallow and frequently until the plants blossom. Pick the pods as soon as the beans are of edible size. A packet will plant about 25 ft. of row; use 1 lb. for 100 ft.; use 60 lbs. to an acre.

60 IMPROVED FORDHOOK BUSH LIMA BEAN ✱

Larger and thicker pods than Fordhook Bush (75 days)

The strong and erect, bushy plants produce a heavy growth of dark green foliage, which protects the blossoms and pods from direct sunlight. The large, thick pods are produced in clusters of from 5 to 8, and contain 4 or 5 thick, meaty, plump, green beans of excellent flavor. Maule's Bush Beans—Wax or Yellow-Pod

Culture: The same planting information given for Green-Pod Bush Beans (page 8) applies to the Yellow-Pod varieties as well. Beans are an indispensable part of every garden. Nearly everyone likes them; some prefer the green-pods; others the yellow or wax-pods, and many include some varieties of each in their plantings. Now that stringless, more tender and better flavored varieties have been developed, is it any wonder that beans, especially the dwarf or bush type, are rapidly gaining in popularity? Make succession plantings for a continuous supply. Have plenty for daily use and to can for winter. They have the best flavor when served or canned soon after picking—beans from your own garden will be better than any you can buy. We offer the best varieties—selected from a long list after trying them out each year. Use insecticides listed in this seed book for the control of insect pests.

Plants are vigorous and heavily productive over a long period. Home gardeners and market growers are nearly all familiar with this popular bean. It is generally recognized as one of the really outstanding varieties of its class. This popularity is not due to any one characteristic of the variety but to a combination of many fine qualities. The first requirement of the average home gardener is for a bean of good quality with tender, stringless pods; earliness and hardness of growth might also be considered. All these qualities are found in Pencil-Pod Black Wax. The appearance of the pods is of great importance, as a ready sale depends on an attractive display. Here again Pencil-Pod fills the bill, as its gracefully curved pods will always draw attention. The seed, when ripe, is jet black.

WM. HENRY MAULE, PHILADELPHIA

Maule's Pole Beans

Culture: Plant pole bean seed after all danger of frost is past and the soil is warm and moderately dry. If poles are used for support, set them 4 ft. apart each way and place 6 to 8 beans around each pole, and cover with 1 in. of soil. When plants are well started, thin to 3 or 4 plants to a pole. A packet is enough for 20 poles, 1 lb. for 100 poles, 30 lbs. to an acre. Pole beans may also be planted along a fence or trellis, using 1 lb. to 250 ft. of row. Keep vines closely picked throughout the season if you wish to prolong their bearing.

43 KENTUCKY WONDER OR OLD HOMESTEAD (65 days)*

Most popular of all green-podded pole beans for home or market. Early and profuse bearer

Ever since the introduction of this variety in 1877, it has been a favorite among the gardeners of this and many other countries. Its adaptability to varying soil and climatic conditions has, no doubt, been largely responsible for this remarkable popularity. The variety can also meet every other requirement for a high quality bean, and it fully merits the position which it has created for itself. The plants are sturdy in their growth and very productive. The pods, which are borne in clusters, are from 7 to 8 in. in length, nearly round, fleshy and tender. When young, they are entirely free from string or fiber, although small strings develop later in the season. These strings do not impair the quality of the pods, and they can be eaten until late in the season. The light brown seeds have a fine and distinctive flavor which makes them suitable for use as shell beans.

Maule's Noxall Pole Bean

Kentucky Wonder Wax Pole Bean

Maule's Pole Lima Beans

Culture: Pole lima beans prefer a warm, sandy loam soil, enriched with well-rotted stable manure. Do not plant until the ground is warm and moderately dry and the weather is quite settled. Set poles 4 ft. each way, and plant 4 to 6 beans around each pole, placing them with the eye downward to encourage quick germination. Cover 2 in. deep. After the seedlings are well started, thin out, leaving 2 strong plants to each pole. Cultivate shallow and frequently. Use one packet to 10 poles; 1 lb. to 50 poles; 30 lbs. to an acre. Small plantings may be made along a fence or trellis, putting several beans a foot apart, later thinning to one strong plant. Such plantings would require 1 lb. to about 100 ft. of row.

53 KING OF THE GARDEN—the old reliable Pole Lima (88 days) *

One of the leading varieties with home and market gardeners

Wherever pole lima beans are known, King of the Garden is almost certain to be one of the most popular and widely grown varieties. The vines are very sturdy in their growth, climbing to a height of from 6 to 10 ft. and with a considerable spread of branches. The pods are from 5 to 7 in. in length and contain 5 or 6 large beans which are tender and of delicious flavor. Pods are borne close to the ground early in the season and higher up on the plant as the season progresses. Bearing will continue until frost has killed the vines. The continued popularity of King of the Garden, in spite of the competition offered by newer varieties, is really the only recommendation that should be needed to convince both home and market gardeners that it is a bean everyone should grow and one that can be grown with confidence. Our strain of King of the Garden has been carefully selected for uniformity, length of pod, earliness of maturity and hardiness. This selection, along with care in growing and harvesting, insures a satisfactory crop for our customers.

70 Maule's Early Wonder (55 days)

Also known as Boston Crosby. A choice selection from Crosby's Egyptian

Early Wonder is the result of yearly selections made over a long period of time to perfect an early small beet that would be considered the standard of excellence for all purposes. As we offer it today it seems almost impossible to still further improve its appearance and splendid quality. It is the earliest of the small table beets for outside growing. Roots are flat to globe in shape, beautiful deep red, and have small tap-roots and medium-sized tops. It is possible to grow them quite close and thereby increase the yield. It may be sown early; it matures early and is so uniform in growth that the harvesting of the entire crop can be practically done at one time, thereby permitting the use of the ground for some other planting. Equally desirable for home and market garden.

81 MAULE'S DARK RED EGYPTIAN BEET *

A popular extra early beet with sweet, dark red flesh (48 days)

No other beet can replace this well-established variety for earliness. Under favorable conditions the roots grow quickly and reach full size in an astonishingly short time. A favorite with market growers who plant it extensively for forcing to supply the early market. As the roots are of medium size and have only a limited amount of foliage, they can stand quite close planting. Its quality, attractiveness, uniformity, and the dark red color of the flesh are characteristics that will appeal to many gardeners. Cooks sweet, tender, and crisp, retaining its bright red color which also makes it very desirable for pickling. Pkt. 10¢; oz. 15¢; ¼ lb. 40¢; ½ lb. 60¢; lb. $1.00; 2 lbs. $1.85; 5 lbs. $4.40.

77 Crosby's Egyptian (55 days) *

Tender and sweet, excellent all-purpose early beet for table or market

Our strain of this quality beet is a decided improvement on the older forms of Egyptian and we claim there is no better early garden beet, as it becomes ready for use so quickly. Beets are large, nearly round but somewhat flattened at the top, smooth, slender tap-root and medium tops. The skin is a very deep red and the flesh is also deep red zoned with a somewhat lighter shade. The foliage, being medium size, permits close planting so that the yield from a given area can be considerably increased. Pkt. 10¢; oz. 15¢; ¼ lb. 30¢; ½ lb. 50¢; lb. 85¢; 2 lbs. $1.55; 5 lbs. $3.60.

72 Ohio Canner (55 days)

Blood-red flesh with few zones

While this beet had been selected as one especially suitable for canning, it has proved a most valuable variety for table use. The shape varies a little: some are almost round, others slightly flattened. The foliage is reddish green and somewhat smaller than that of Detroit Dark Red. The very dark red skin is exceptionally smooth. The color of the flesh is the darkest of any of this type, showing hardly any zones at all. Remains tender and sweet, whether young or old, small or large.

Pkt. 10¢; oz. 15¢; ¼ lb. 40¢; ½ lb. 60¢; lb. $1.00; 2 lbs. $1.85; 5 lbs. $4.40.

67 Maule's Alpha (55 days) *

Dark crimson, turnip shaped

We regard this as an exceptionally fine beet with large roots of even size and splendid quality. Its shape is that of a turnip; just a little deeper than Crosby's Egyptian. The flesh is dark crimson with slightly lighter zones or rings. As the top growth is medium, it will stand close planting. Its attractiveness and earliness have made it a great favorite for early table or market use. When cooked it has a rich, sweet flavor and is entirely free from any fiber or toughness.

Pkt. 10¢; oz. 20¢; ¼ lb. 50¢; ½ lb. 75¢; lb. $1.25; 2 lbs. $2.30; 5 lbs. $5.50.

68 Good for All (55 days)

Globe shaped, smooth, deep crimson

Well named, as it is equally good for table, pickling or canning. May be used at all stages of its growth but especially fine for canning and pickling whole when 1½ in. in diameter. If you do not know just which varieties to plant, we suggest making your selection from those marked with the Four-Leaf Clover. With each variety of vegetables, we also give you the number of days required from time of sowing seeds until you may expect the vegetable to be ready for use. Of course, the time given is average.

Two Varieties Especially Suited for Winter Storing

While these two beets are highly recommended for winter storing, they are also valuable for use during the summer. Late sowings give best beets for winter use.

82 Maule's Market Gardeners*

Never past its prime (65 days)

The popularity of this splendid beet is well deserved, for it is always good; it makes no difference whether they are young or old, small or large. They are always tender. The roots are of a uniform, even, half-long shape, deep red, smooth, distinctly zoned, sweet, tender and fine-grained. They grow rapidly into a solid, firm-fleshed root that is particularly suited for winter storing. It is valuable alike to market growers and home gardeners.

Pkt. 10¢; oz. 15¢; ¼ lb. 45¢; ½ lb. 65¢;
lb. $1.10; 2 lbs. $2.00; 5 lbs. $4.80.

Beets, carrots and other root crops produce best results if sown in light, thoroughly prepared soil of good fertility in a sunny location.

73 Burpee's Winter Keeper

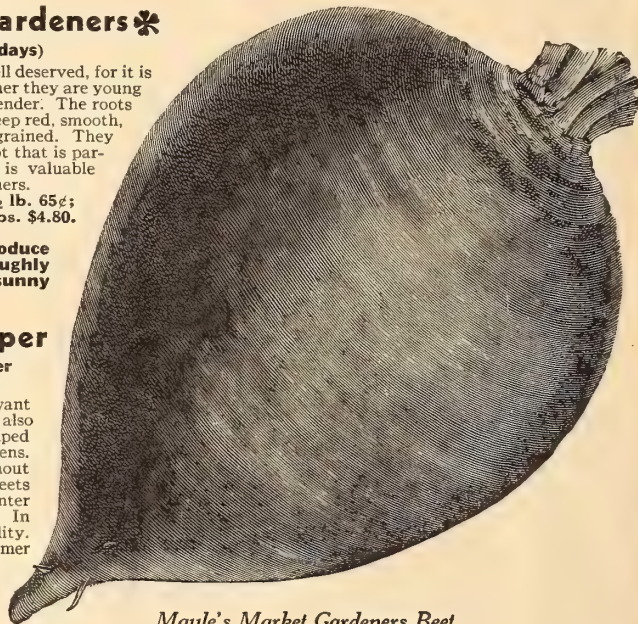

Tender and delicious the entire summer and winter (70 days)

Truly a "Long Season" beet and just the one you want as it will remain tender and sweet all summer, and also when stored for winter. The half-long or top-shaped beets have long, green tops, which can be used for greens. Beets are of medium size, very deep red color without light colored rings. Grows slowly, producing good-sized beets medium early, but even when they get very large. Winter Keeper will be found as tender as much earlier varieties. In great demand by home gardeners who appreciate quality. Truckers and market gardeners selling direct to the consumer have built up a wonderful business on this beet.

Maule's Cauliflower

Culture: For early cauliflower, start the seed of the early, quick maturing varieties indoors or under glass during February or March. When soil has become warm, transplant seedlings to the garden. For a main crop to cut during the summer and autumn sow seed in May or early June in a specially prepared seedbed or frame; transplant seedlings to garden in late June or early July, setting the plants 2 ft. apart, in rows 3 ft. apart. A packet will produce about 150 plants; an ounce about 4,000 plants. Two ounces are required to produce enough plants for an acre. Days to maturity are from field setting of plants.

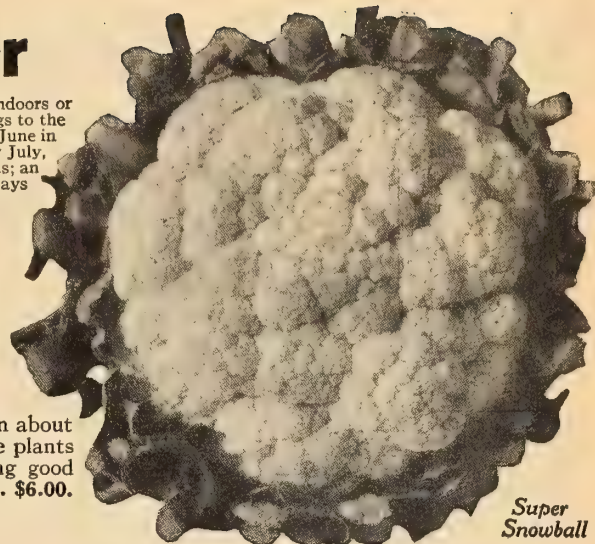

170 SUPER SNOWBALL (82 days) *

A prize cauliflower for the home and market gardener

One of the earliest cauliflowers and remarkable for its uniformity of size, shape and type. Under favorable growing conditions and good soil, best results are to be had. It heads so evenly that often the entire crop may be harvested within a short time after it begins to mature. Plants are vigorous; leaves are erect, quite large and curl over the heads so as to protect them from the sun. The large heads are pure white, solid, and very firm. In most sections the best heads are raised from seed sown about the middle of May and plants set out in late June or July; this allows the plants to make their growth during cool weather, which is the best for raising good cauliflower.

Pkt. 20¢; 1/4 oz. $1.75; 1/2 oz. $3.25; oz. $6.00.

Maule's Seeds—Once Grown, Always Grown

Super Snowball

168 Early Snowball—all-purpose Cauliflower

Great favorite. Attractive, large, solid white heads; always dependable (85 days)

This standard cauliflower is known everywhere. It is a great favorite in the home garden and with market growers for greenhouse forcing, early market and shipping. Produces large, solid white heads and does best in a moderately cool climate. Individual heads average about 9 in. in diameter, though they will grow as much as 12 in. across under favorable conditions and good soil. One of the most dependable and best quality varieties.

Pkt. 15¢; 1/4 oz. $1.50; 1/2 oz. $2.75; oz. $5.00.

173 Autumn Giant—well-known Cauliflower

Splendid long season variety; immense, compact white heads (130 days)

The largest and finest of all late cauliflowers. Heads grow to truly enormous size; firm, very white, and composed of closely formed curd. The quality is superb. Plants make a large quantity of foliage and, therefore, require ample room for growing. The foliage incurses over the head and serves as a protection against discoloration. Needs a long growing season.

Pkt. 10¢; 1/4 oz. 50¢; 1/2 oz. 90¢; oz. $1.50.

166 Danamerica (85 days)

A sure producer of large crops

Danamerica is a cauliflower of the super-snowball type, of remarkable heading ability when growing conditions are unfavorable for best development. When soil and weather are suitable, crops producing from 95 to 100 per cent of marketable heads are frequently harvested. Long, heavy outer leaves and curving inner leaves provide protection for the heads so that they are usually snow-white and unblemished. The uniformity and large size of the heads are also outstanding features of this variety. Those who grow cauliflower for the market should give Danamerica a trial. Many have done so with an increase in yields and profits.

Pkt. 25¢; 1/4 oz. $1.75; 1/2 oz. $3.25; oz. $6.00.

164 Maule's Prize Earliest *

The largest, most uniform header (90 days)

Maule's Prize Earliest has long been considered the finest, largest, most attractive extra early cauliflower. It heads most uniformly, whether planted for forcing under glass, in frames, or grown outdoors for either early or late crop. The heads mature all at about the same time. The growth of the plants is dwarf and compact so that they can be set as close as 18 in. apart in the frame or field. Such close planting naturally means a greatly increased yield from a given space of ground. The compact, perfectly white, closely formed heads are ready sellers and are sure to bring a high price in the market. No one who has had experience with Maule's Prize Earliest is likely to grow any other.

Pkt. 25¢; 1/4 oz. $1.65; 1/2 oz. $3.00; oz. $5.50.

172 Early Favorite—best second-early (110 days)

Large, pure white. Quite resistant to heat and drought

Large, solid, pure white heads of remarkable size, and composed of a fine-grained, closely formed curd. Classed as one of the best second-early varieties. Though it is best if grown in a moderately cool climate, it has proven to be quite resistant to heat and drought. Considering all its splendid qualities, it is no wonder that it has become such a favorite. Pkt. 10¢; 1/4 oz. 75¢; 1/2 oz. $1.40; oz. $2.50.

165 Dry Weather—actually drought resistant (95 days)

Forms perfect heads when others fail, due to lack of moisture

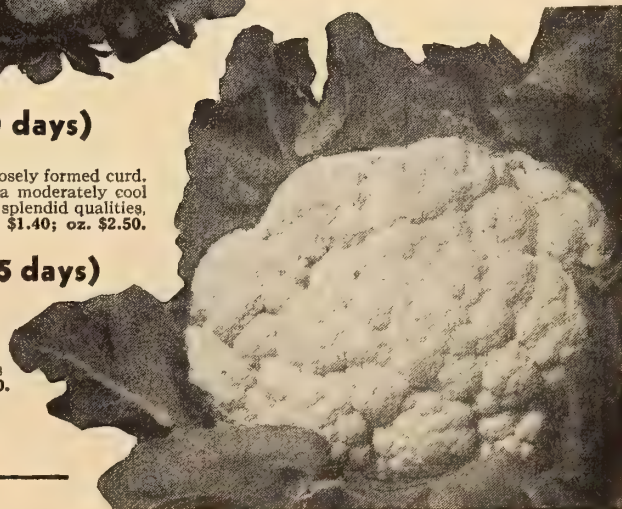

Originated in Denmark and is truly outstanding as it will produce attractive, remarkably large heads during adverse dry weather when other varieties are a failure. It is a quality cauliflower in all respects. The closely formed, pure white curd is attractive and very tender. Though it grows well in dry seasons, moist or wet seasons do not harm it in any way.

Pkt. 15¢; 1/4 oz. $1.50; 1/2 oz. $2.75; oz. $5.00.

Late cabbage seed is sown in a specially prepared bed in late May or early June, and the plants set out in early July, 1½ ft. apart in rows 3 ft. apart. A packet of seed will produce about 250 plants; an ounce about 2,000 plants; ¼ lb. for an acre. Days to maturity are from field setting of plants; allow 30 days for plant production.

Heads, however, are slightly larger, short-stemmed and about 10 days earlier. Plants are of dwarf, compact growth with few outer leaves which permits close planting, and therefore when grown commercially, a larger yield may be expected than from any of the other Danish Cabbages. A sure and even header
Has become very popular

Long, pointed, extra firm, solid heads, pure white inside and of the finest flavor. The leaves are broad, smooth, and fringed at the edge. When fully matured, heads often measure 18 in. tall and 3½ to 4 in. thick. Very reliable header, but do not sow too early as plants will "bolt" during hot weather and will not form heads. Sow seeds about 3 months before your first expected frost.

Maule's Celery

Culture: For earliest celery, sow the seed thinly in the house or hotbed in February or early March. For a late crop for fall use or winter storing, sow the seed in frames or a specially prepared seedbed in the open ground as early in the spring as the soil can be worked up into a loose condition. Cover seed with no more than $\frac{1}{4}$ in. of fine soil. Keep evenly and moderately moist until the seeds sprout, which usually requires two weeks. Set plants 6 to 8 in. apart in single rows 4 ft. apart or double rows 1 ft. apart, allowing 4 ft. of space between each double row. Celery requires rich, well-manured soil and plenty of moisture for best results. It does especially good on muck soil. A packet of seed will provide about 400 plants; one oz. about 7,500 plants. Four ounces of seed are needed for an acre.

Long, slender white grains of unusual sweetness

Easily recognized by the irregular arrangement of the kernels on the cob. Seeds, when dry, are long and narrow, hence the appropriate common name of Shoe Peg by which it is widely known. Ears are quite large, 7 to 8 in. long, with a small white cob thickly covered with long, slender white grains of exceptional sweetness, and it remains "in the milk" for a very long time. Has become famous all over the United States for its nectar-like sweetness, and is the joy of epicures everywhere. 222 Maule's "Lead All" Evergreen (95 days) *

Extra large sized ears of 14 or 16 rows of large white kernels

In introducing this corn some years ago, we realized that increased size linked with superior quality were most important features that would appeal to home gardeners and market growers. Maule's "Lead All" Evergreen combines extra-large size with the superb quality found in other Sweet Corns of the Evergreen type. It produces truly handsome ears which are sweeter and larger than either Country Gentleman or Stowell's Evergreen. The stalks grow 8 to 9 ft. tall, an indication of their vigorous habit and productiveness. Most of the plants produce two fine, well-developed ears measuring anywhere from 8 to 10 in. in length. They are thick and heavy, closely set with 14 or 16 rows of large, white, sweet grains. Noted for its drought-resistant qualities. Retains its fine flavor longer than most other varieties.

205 Maule's Colossal Early (88 days) *

The finest large-eared early white sugar corn in existence

When sales of a variety of Sweet Corn continue to increase every year, as has been the case with Maule's Colossal Early since being introduced 25 years ago, it simply must be good. While Colossal Early averages 88 days to maturity, many gardeners in different sections have written us that it has produced its first ears within 78 to 80 days after planting. Quality in Sweet Corn is, however, more important for its popularity than season of maturity.

Ears are 7 to 9 in. long and frequently 2 to 3 in. thick, with 12 or 14 rows of large white kernels of remarkable sweetness. Stalks grow 6 to 7 ft. tall, many of them carrying 2 or 3 ears each. If you grow any corn, be sure to give Colossal Early a trial.

Distinct type, crisp, tender and sweet (68 days)

Sometimes called Celery Lettuce because of its upright growth, the long, tender, light green leaves enclosing a well-blanching, elongated heart. Thin plants of loose leaf varieties to stand 4 to 6 in. apart in the row, and as they get large, use every other one. Thin heading type lettuce to stand 1 ft. apart. For very early lettuce, seed may be sown in a coldframe or in a box in a sunny window in February, and the seedlings set out in April. Lettuce grows best during the cool seasons of the year. Successional sowings should be made every two weeks from early spring until June for a continuous supply during spring and early summer; sowings made in August and September will provide lettuce during the fall. 328 Maule's Improved Hanson (73 days)

A crisp-head lettuce which withstands extreme weather better than many

One of the earliest of the crisp-head lettuces. Entirely free from any bitter taste; is always crisp, tender and of a sweet flavor, not only in the well-blanching white heart but also in the outer leaves. Heads are large, quite broad, slightly flattened, the outer leaves being bright green. Its reliability for sure heading, even during midsummer, is widely known and has given it much of its deserved popularity. A wonderful home garden variety which is sure to prove satisfactory. Pkt. 10¢; oz. 20¢; ¼ lb. 50¢; ½ lb. 75¢; lb. $1.25; 2 lbs. $2.30; 5 lbs. $5.50.

345 New York or Wonderful—Crisp-head (75 days)

Heat resistant, sure cropper, reliable header

A widely used lettuce, commonly called Iceberg or Los Angeles by growers and shippers on the Pacific Coast. It is, however, widely different from the original Iceberg offered on this page. New York or Wonderful has been well described as "the king of main-crop head lettuces." The solid, compact heads, well grown in rich soil, often measure nearly 1 ft. across and weigh heavily; outer leaves are deep green, heart blanches to a beautiful pure white, tasty, crisp and of delicious flavor. Plants are deep rooting so are quite resistant to heat; does best in spring and fall, but for main summer crop it has no equal. We do not recommend it for forcing. Valuable for home or market gardener.

Pkt. 10¢; oz. 20¢; ¼ lb. 60¢; ½ lb. 85¢; lb. $1.50; 2 lbs. $2.75; 5 lbs. $6.60.

333 New York 12—Crisp-head (75 days) *

An improved selection from the original New York or Wonderful

When properly grown on rich soil, heads grow very large, 10 to 12 in. across, almost round and as solid as a cabbage. Leaves are dark green, the outer ones notched and slightly curled on the edges; the inner leaves are tightly folded, well blanching to a beautiful silvery white, crisp, sweet and tender. Has proved to be well adapted for successful growing in almost any locality in early spring or late summer and fall. We do not, however, recommend it for forcing. It is remarkable for its uniformity, sureness of heading, and attractive appearance. Popular for home and market.

Pkt. 10¢; oz. 20¢; ¼ lb. 60¢; ½ lb. 85¢; lb. $1.50; 2 lbs. $2.75; 5 lbs. $6.60.

323 Iceberg—The Original (60 days)

Very popular crisp-head, tender lettuce for the home garden

The original Iceberg as offered here makes large, handsome heads of light green curled leaves with reddish tinged edges; hearts are crisp, tender, silvery white and of good quality. Must not be confused with the familiar "New York or Wonderful" lettuce which is commonly called "Iceberg" by growers, shippers, and some merchants.

Popular for the home garden; splendid for summer growing

329 New York 515—Crisp-head (72 days) *

The earliest heading lettuce of the New York type

A little earlier than New York 12, which it resembles in general appearance. The large heads are solid, bright green in color, bleach to a beautiful white; always crisp, juicy and sweet. New York 515 has been bred for resistance to tipburn and will stand hot weather better than others of the New York type. It also makes wonderful heads in the fall from late summer sowings. Should you have had difficulty in raising head lettuce in your garden we would suggest trying this new, sure heading strain of New York, or commonly called "Iceberg," by shippers.

Onion Sets

Onion Sets

Small, clean sets, vigorous, and of choicest quality

Culture: Onion sets should be planted as early in the spring as the ground can be worked. Make furrows about 1 in. deep and press the onions into the surface lightly but do not cover; have the rows 12 to 18 in. apart and set the onions about 2 in. apart in the row. Green onions may be had in a few weeks. In the vicinity of Philadelphia, onions large enough to cook are ready in early July, but if large, ripe onions are wanted, it is usually about the middle of July before they can be harvested. By planting sets, onions can be produced for market or household use four to six weeks earlier than can be had from seed. A pound of onion sets will plant a row about 100 ft. long. Use 250 to 325 lbs. to an acre. The early lifting of an onion crop allows for the sowings of quick maturing crops on the same ground the same season.

Garlic Sets

Extra select California grown sets; large, pure white (150 days)

The pear-shaped bulbs have a strong, pungent odor but if used in small quantities are highly esteemed for adding a dash of flavor to soups, stews, sausages and salad dressings; much in demand by chefs the world over. A fertile, well-drained, sandy loam or muck soil is best suited for growing garlic. The bulbs (sets) are composed of several sections or "cloves" which should be separated and set in rows 1 ft. apart, and 4 in. apart in the rows. Cover the "cloves" with 1 in. of fine soil. When the tops turn yellow, take up the bulbs, dry in the shade, and store in a cool, dry place away from frost. They will keep perfectly all winter.

Seed Potatoes

Maine-Grown

It is most important to plant clean potatoes, that is, seed potatoes that are free from mosaic, leaf roll, wilt or other disease. Our potatoes are certified stock that have been grown in Maine.

Please state on order when potatoes are to be shipped

Culture: Cut the tubers to one or two eyes. Plant the divisions in rows 3 ft. apart, 15 to 18 in. apart in the row, and cover with 4 in. of soil. 8 to 10 lbs. of potatoes should be sufficient for 100 ft. of row. Use 10 to 12 bu. per acre. Cultivate constantly and thoroughly. Potatoes mature in 80 to 145 days, according to variety, and are ready for digging when foliage turns yellow.

Irish Cobbler

69B81 Katahdin (145 days) Certified

Originated at the experiment station of the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Presque Isle, Maine. Somewhat later maturing than Green Mountain, this variety produces handsome, shallow-eyed tubers which are glossy and white-skinned. The crop is remarkably uniform in shape and size, with few unmarketable tubers. For best results, plant on light, friable soil, as heavy soils, especially if subject to drought conditions, are not adapted to the needs of this variety.

MAULE'S QUALITY PEAS

Fresh young peas, picked from the vines and cooked as soon as possible thereafter, are one of the most delicious vegetables. Early maturing peas are divided into two groups—the ripened seeds of one are smooth while the others are wrinkled. Seed of the hardier smooth-seeded varieties should be sown as early in the spring as the ground can be worked. Wrinkled-seeded varieties are more susceptible to cold weather, so the seed should not be sown until all danger of frost has passed. By planting some of the early, medium and late varieties at the same time, a continuous supply of fresh peas may be enjoyed for a long time. Successive sowings of each variety may be made every 10 days until May 10. Sow again late in August for a fall crop. Space the rows 2 to 2½ ft. apart for dwarf varieties; 2½ to 3 ft. apart for tall varieties. Cover the seed 1 to 2 in. deep. A packet will sow about 20 ft. of row; a pound 100 ft.; 120 lbs. of seed are needed to sow one acre. Varieties growing more than 2 ft. tall do better if staked up or otherwise supported.

WM. HENRY MAULE, PHILADELPHIA

Maule's Radishes

Culture: The seed of Spring and Summer Radishes may be sown as early in the spring as the soil can be worked. Successional sowings may be made every 10 days until September, except where summers are hot, in which sections sowings should be stopped from the middle of May until the first of August. Sow seed thinly in shallow drills 12 to 18 in. apart, cover with $\frac{1}{2}$ in. of soil; thin to 1 in. apart for small varieties; large varieties, 3 to 4 in. apart. A packet will sow about 20 ft. of row; 1 oz. about 100 ft.; 10 to 12 lbs. per acre. Winter Radishes require cool weather at the end of their growing season, and for that reason, seeds are sown from the middle of June to the middle of August in rows 15 to 24 in. apart; cover seed $\frac{1}{2}$ in. deep. Thin the seedlings to stand 4 to 6 in. apart in the row. A packet will sow about 20 ft. of row; 1 oz. about 100 ft.; 8 to 10 lbs. per acre. With little care, anyone can grow radishes. 629 Giant Summer Straightneck *

A straightneck Golden Summer Crookneck (60 days)

Much in demand by home and market growers. Shippers find that the fruits pack nicely for shipment in either hampers or crates because of the straight neck. They arrive at the market in good condition, and with no "broken necks" as is often the case with the Crookneck variety, its parent. Another good point which will commend "Straightneck" to all housewives is that it is so much easier to prepare for cooking. Flesh is salmon-yellow, and of the finest quality; skin is golden orange and heavily warted. Fruits are about 18 in. long. Just as early as "Crookneck." Plants are bushy, vigorous and very productive. Pkt. 10¢; oz. 15¢; ¼ lb. 40¢; ½ lb. 60¢; lb. $1.00; 2 lbs. $1.85; 5 lbs. $4.40.

646 Connecticut Straightneck (55 days)

An improved and true, uniform straightneck summer squash developed by Dr. L. C. Curtis at the Connecticut Experiment Station. The plants, which are of the true bush type, are very prolific. Fruits are from 7 to 9 in. long and have the shape of regular strains of Straightneck Summer but are smoother and have a less definite neck. Both seeds and seed cavity are small. Present indications are that Connecticut Straightneck will soon take the place of all earlier strains both on the market and in the home garden.

Maule's Winter Squash

Culture: Winter squashes require the same general cultural directions as the summer varieties but need a longer growing season to mature. Fruits must remain on the vine until they have fully matured; gather them before frost, leaving part of the stem attached. Keep in a moderately warm, dry place until used. Handle carefully so as not to bruise them, for bruises may cause decay. Examine fruits in storage from time to time. Many of the winter squashes make excellent "pumpkin" pie. Because the plants make such a vigorous rampant growth, the hills should be spaced 8 by 8 ft. apart.

Maule's Tomatoes

Culture: Sow seeds in a hotbed, greenhouse or in shallow boxes in the house, 6 or 7 weeks before the usual time in your locality for setting out the plants. Make sowings in rows 4 to 6 in. apart and cover seed $\frac{1}{2}$ in. deep. When the plants are about 2 in. high, transplant singly to 3-inch pots or into shallow boxes 4 in. apart each way. Transplant in the open ground, after all danger of frost is past, 3 to 4 ft. apart each way. Cultivate frequently. A packet will produce about 300 plants; an oz. about 2,500 plants; 2 ozs. produces enough plants for an acre.

Certified and Standard Seed

Certified seed is produced from crops inspected by officials of State Agricultural Departments and found true to name and free from disease. Our uncertified seed is produced from the same stock and under the same conditions but has not been inspected for certification.

669C MARGLOBE (Certified) (73 days) ✱

The popular wilt- and rust-resistant tomato

In breeding and selecting our stock of Marglobe, we have endeavored to secure a strain that will produce the maximum yield of large sized, smooth, uniform, bright red fruits that are suitable for long distance shipping, canning, or for juice production. Vigor, size of vine, and wilt-resistance have also been considered: the result is a tomato which is definitely superior to most strains of this variety. Fruits weigh $6\frac{1}{2}$ to 7 ozs., are globular, smooth, and with small blossom-end scars. The interior is remarkably solid, with small cells and heavy walls. Delicious and sub-acid in flavor. Vines are heavy and spreading, with abundant foliage, and are wilt-resistant to a high degree.

651 Maule's Earliest of All (56 days) ✱

The greatest of all early tomatoes

Maule's Earliest of All is the best red tomato for home gardens and market. Its extreme earliness is not its only merit, for the fruits are large, rich in color, and extremely meaty. They do not crack, neither do they have a hard core. While they are a trifle irregular in shape, they are not rough. When we say that it is the earliest tomato, we are fully aware of the claims made for June Pink, Earliana, and others. If you have not given this wonderful tomato a trial, you will neglect your own interests if you do not include it in your order. 705 Super Marglobe (73 days)

An outstanding strain of Marglobe

A truly outstanding strain of this most salable of all tomatoes. Super Marglobe is selected for a strong, resistant vine with foliage which will protect the fruit from sunburn and allow it to develop the richest possible scarlet color; for heavy yield, and for an extra large sized fruit still retaining globular shape and refinement from end to end; for solid interior which makes for good canning quality and firmness in shipping.

The fruit of Super Marglobe weighs $6\frac{1}{2}$ to 7 ounces, is deep, almost globular, with only a minute scar at the blossom end, and a stem end that makes picking easy. The outside color is bright scarlet, the interior thick walled and firm—the quality unbeatable. This is the best strain of Marglobe you have ever grown.

The earliest red, globe-shaped tomato

A very popular variety among home and market gardeners. It is the earliest wilt-resistant variety and among the earliest of all varieties, producing attractive, red, globe-shaped fruits which weigh from 6 to 7 ozs. each. They are of splendid quality and firm enough to stand long distance shipping. Especially recommended for planting in rich and well-fertilized soils as it will not make an excessive vine growth.

685 Grothen's Globe (68 days)

A darker red colored Break O'Day

The new, early maturing, wilt-resistant variety of the Break O'Day type with vines like Break O'Day except the leaflets are somewhat larger and more abundant, which helps to protect the fruits from sun scald. The globe-shaped fruits are as large as or larger than Break O'Day and are deeper scarlet color and free from any yellow color about the stem end. Very solid and meaty. Heavy yielder. Popular for home or market.

681C Pritchard or Scarlet Topper (Certified) ✱

Bright red, wilt-resistant, self topping (70 days)

Another of Dr. Fred Pritchard's developments. Like others of his varieties, it is wilt-resistant, and produces bright-red, globe-shaped fruits. These fruits are medium sized, 5 to 6 ozs., well rounded on the shoulder, and exceptionally firm.

The plants of this tomato are of the self-pruning or self-topping type and, for that reason, ideal for planting in regions having heavy, fertile soils. It is a popular variety in many parts of the Middle West, where other tomatoes frequently make an abnormal growth. Our stock of Pritchard, obtained originally from the United States Department of Agriculture, is carefully selected each year in order to maintain, and if possible to increase, its purity. This selection, along with certification of the fields, insures a constant supply of high quality seeds.

670 Penn State (62 days)

As early as Earliana; self topping

A new tomato developed by Dr. Meyers of Penn State College. Of the self-topping type, the vines produce short thick stems and rather coarse, medium dark green foliage. Owing to the compactness of these vines, the plants may be set closer together, in rows 3 ft. apart and 18 to 24 in. apart in the rows. The medium sized, scarlet-red fruits are borne in clusters of 4 to 6 on the entire plant and are smooth, slightly flattened and solid, with small seed cavities. Of superb quality and exceedingly desirable for both market and home use.

720 Glovel—Wilt-Resistant (73 days)

Best described as a Pink Marglobe

A new pink tomato developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station. A cross between Globe and Marvel so that it is wilt-resistant. Glovel produces medium-sized vines of vigorous growth. The pink fruits average medium in size and have thick outer and inner walls which give them considerable firmness—an important factor.

Pkt. 15¢; ½ oz. 35¢; oz. 60¢; ¼ lb. $1.80; ½ lb. $3.30; lb. $6.00.

680 Nystate (66 days)

As early as Bonny Best. Large size, smooth, red

Developed by Dr. C. B. Sayre of the Division of Vegetable Crops of the New York Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva. The strong, vigorous vines produce an enormous crop of large-sized, deep, flat, scarlet-red fruits which color evenly from stem to blossom end. Very solid and of fine interior quality. Perfected primarily for canning and juice, but highly desirable for market or home.

Pkt. 10¢; ½ oz. 25¢; oz. 45¢; ¼ lb. $1.40; ½ lb. $2.60; lb. $4.75.

Tomatoes are a great Maule specialty. They are also offered on pages 51, 53, 54 and 55

Tomatoes are sun-loving plants and should be given an open position where they will get the full benefit of the sun; never plant near or under trees. If possible, support each plant by a stake and grow to one stem in the home garden. While sun is needed to ripen the fruits, the plants must be given water regularly during dry spells. To prevent blight, mildew and other fungus diseases, and at the same time kill all leaf-eating insects, dust or spray your tomato plants with Bordo-Lead. Be sure to grow a few plants of the small-fruited tomatoes for serving whole in salads, or to make into preserves and pickles.

683C BONNY BEST (Certified) (66 days) *

An all-purpose second-early tomato

This second-early, scarlet-red tomato can be successfully grown in nearly all parts of this country. Grown, not only by home and early market gardeners, but by greenhouse operators as well. It is perhaps the leading forcing variety of this country. Plants are of medium size and bear an abundance of smooth, deep fruit, weighing $4\frac{1}{2}$ to 6 ozs. Suitable for home use, local market and for canning.

653C Rutgers (Certified) (74 days)

Remarkable for its large size and solidity

Rutgers was developed by Dr. L. G. Schermerhorn at the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station. It has proved ideal for the requirements of New Jersey growers and its use has spread to other sections as its value became known. At present Rutgers is one of the foremost market varieties in the entire country, and is especially popular in the East and South. Like most tomatoes of commercial importance, it is highly disease-resistant and practically free from the attacks of Fusarium Wilt. Plants are large and vigorous, with heavy stems and coarse dark green leaves. Fruits average from $6\frac{1}{2}$ to $7\frac{1}{2}$ ozs. in weight, are globular in shape, slightly flattened, having well-rounded shoulders and a very small blossom end scar. 682 GIANT PONDEROSA TOMATO ✱

Extremely large, purplish pink; mild flavor (81 days)

Although essentially a home garden tomato and not suitable for shipping, many owners of roadside stands have found that Ponderosa meets with a ready sale when offered. In some sections the sales have been quite heavy, no doubt on account of its gigantic size, and when eaten, for its mild and delicious sub-acid flavor which is preferred by many people. Although introduced to cultivation many years ago, this most attractive purplish pink colored tomato is, today, one of the most popular and in the greatest demand. Its vigorous vines undoubtedly produce the most gigantic tomatoes ever known, and in great profusion if the soil is not too rich. It has been successfully bred with the object of filling up the seed cavities so that it is now as solid as a Beefsteak and almost seedless.

A rapid growing, velvety grass

We recommend this mixture to all gardeners who want a beautiful effect in the shortest time possible. Besides the grasses which are suited for this purpose, we have included enough seed of others to insure permanent results. You may expect to cut your lawn for the first time about 2 weeks earlier from this than from any other grass seed mixture. It is particularly adapted for late spring and summer sowing. $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. 25¢; 1 lb. 40¢; 2 lbs. 70¢; 5 lbs. \$1.60; 10 lbs. \$2.90; 15 lbs. \$3.60; 25 lbs. \$5.75; 50 lbs. \$11.25; 100 lbs. or more @ 22¢ per lb., transportation prepaid.

885 Shady Lawn Mixture

For under trees or shady nooks

Nothing spoils the good effect of a lawn more than bare spots in shaded corners or under trees. Using this grass mixture will help you to do away with these unsightly spots as the grasses in this mixture are naturally adapted for growing in semi-shaded positions. Proper preparation of the soil, an ample supply of plant food, and regular watering may be needed if rain does not reach the shaded spots in abundance. Choice clean seed for best results.

797 White Dutch Clover

Gardeners who prefer an extra-heavy growth of clover in their lawn should add this at the rate of 4 ozs. to every 2 lbs. of grass seed. Sow separately in order to effect an even distribution as clover seed is much heavier than grass seed.

MAULE'S BEAUTIFUL ASTERS

With its many and varied forms, its wide range of color, and its real beauty, the aster is deservedly one of the most popular flowers we have. By planting early, midseason and late varieties you may have asters from June to frost. W. R. means Wilt-Resistant—resistant to the destructive wilt disease. We offer all that have been bred so far, and will add more as they are developed.

Asters bloom from three to five months after seed is sown, varying with the variety and the climate. By starting the seed indoors 6 weeks before outdoor planting time, earlier blooms may be had. Give your asters rich, well-drained soil, plenty of moisture and sunshine, and they will repay you. The location of the aster bed should be changed every year for best results.

Navajo Zinnias

2088 Mixed Colors Flowers are of medium size, double and semi-double, and composed of long, narrow petals, some of which are slightly incurved or fluted. The outer one-third of each petal is heavily tipped white, creamy white or creamy yellow, or a lighter color than the center of the flower.

Pkt. 10¢; 1/8 oz. 30¢; 1/4 oz. 50¢.

Radio Zinnias—A new type of zinnia

2084 Finest Mixed When first open, the flowers have somewhat of a star-like appearance but as they mature they become round, very full, and grow about 3 inches across. Flowers are of many colors; most of them have a two-toned effect due to the different shade on the reverse of the curved or fluted petals. Free blooming; fine for cutting. 3 ft.

Pkt. 15¢; 1/8 oz. 35¢; 1/4 oz. 55¢.

Fantasy Zinnias

2089 Star Dust Beautiful golden yellow, well-rounded flowers, 3 to 3 1/2 in. across. Petals are narrow, tubular and prettily twisted, which gives them the appearance of a small shaggy chrysanthemum. 1937 All-America Award of Merit.

Pkt. 15¢; 1/8 oz. 35¢.

2096 Mixed Colors Flowers of a most artistic form, borne on long, stiff stems. Colors in this mixture include red, yellow, orange, pastel pinks, lavender and cream. Lovely for cutting. 2 to 2 1/2 ft. tall. Be sure to grow this unusual Zinnia.

Pkt. 10¢; 1/8 oz. 25¢; 1/4 oz. 40¢.

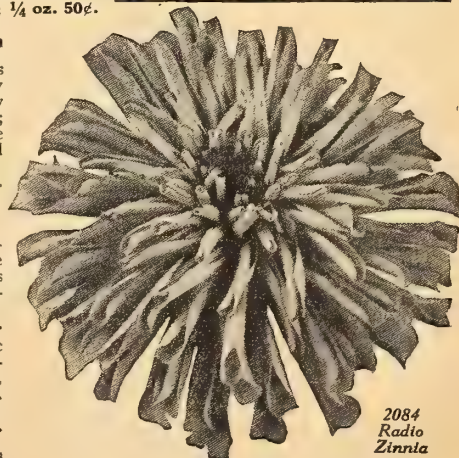

Creeping Zinnia—Tiny zinnia-like flowers on creeping plants 6 in. tall. See Sanvitalia on page 76.
